Interesting architecture and history

Wschowa with its history and architecture is too careful a charming cluster of old buildings the western Polish city. This makes it is often visited by tourists.

An interesting medieval town planning ideas for visitors is the location of the two main streets of the city for an hour in 13:00, ie the main axis of the city slopes of 35 ° from the north - south, which provided a favorable solar lighting buildings situated on the streets and the east and west frontage of the market.

The advantages of such a perfect layout of the town by the fact that all the major centers of political, administrative and religious were located on one axis.

From the East closed the street, the royal palace, a huge block to the west of the parish church, and in the middle of the market rose a town hall.

The whole composition of urban closed gates: Poland and Głogowska and walls of stone and brick, Strapping circularly old town.

Undoubtedly, "pearls" of architecture in the city are: the baroque seventeenth-century Franciscan monastery complex and the former Bernardine Old and Protestant Cemetery tombstone sculptures out Lapidarium.

Furthermore, in two best-preserved Renaissance burgher houses from the seventeenth century, are located today, the Museum of Earth Wschowskie collections.

In Sława, town on the border of Silesia and Great Poland, survived as interesting spatial arrangement of medieval origin.

For centuries, Fame played the role of trade settlement on the route from Silesia to Wielkopolska.

Only in the twentieth century, the interwar period, thanks to its location on Lake Fame, the largest reservoir of water in Lubuskie, it has become known for bathing and health resort.

Here too we can admire the unique architectural monuments: the late-Renaissance church. St. Michael, whose present shape was founded around 1600, baroque palace from the early eighteenth century, surrounded by a landscaped park and a classical church. Divine Mercy, was built in the nineteenth century, as the Evangelical Church of the Holy Trinity.

His rise to the city Szlichtyngowa owes to John George Schlichting - wschowski judge, who 20 July 1644, he received from King Władysław IV privilege. The town was founded in Magdeburg took part in the village of goods Szlichtyngowa - Górczyn. It had a regular building, and they settled by German Protestants - refugees from war-torn Thirty Silesia.

Until 1793 Szlichtyngowa remained in Earth Wschowska and shared her fate. On site burned down in 1995, a valuable half-timbered church. Exaltation of the Holy Cross from 1653, built a new shape of mimicking the previous one.

The city preserved the original urban layout of a square. Market Square is a bourgeois houses built, the baroque and classical features of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

On the outskirts of the city Szlichtyngowa, forest clearings among the small Jewish cemetery so. cemetery. It is an extraordinary place surrounded by walls in which there are several well-preserved tombstones.

Being in Wyszanów want to take some time to watch the ruins of a Gothic church, burned down in 1633, during the Swedish invasion. The park, located next to the palace once stood, which led to this day preserved gate.

In excellent condition there are numerous examples of noble monuments of architecture, located in the nearby villages of the district Wschowa. Present the most impressive such buildings in the towns:

- Dębowa Łęka - Neo-Renaissance palace proved Brodowski family from around 1845,
- Jędrzychowice - a baroque palace complex built in 1726 by Samuel Mielęcki, with two cylindrical towers, which is reconstructed by a descendant of goods Górczyński, Baroness von Sigrun Schlichting-Bukówiec;

Recreation in the countryside and forests

To rest in the countryside or a farm, we see no such arguments as:

- The taste of warm milk straight from cows and honey from his own apiary
- The smell of fresh hay after haymaking and fresh stubble after the harvest,
- View majestically walking farm animals and birds,
- Opportunities to participate in the work of farming,
- Opportunities to fish in ponds for breeding,
- learning opportunities and recreational riding horse.

One of the natural resources of our land are the forests covering 40% of the area and the Lakeland Sławski and District Wschowa. They surround the city of Sława from all sides. It is also surrounded by forests Lgiń. The Lgiń forests complex is around contributor Przemęt Landscape Park.

All forest areas are rich in old forests and are full of wild game and undergrowth. Therefore, in the season, tourists can go for blueberries, blackberries or mushrooming.
